FORESTRY NOTES

More than three billion tree seedlings have been planted and distributed in the South by pulp and paper companies and independent pulpwood producers since just after World War II.

Henry J. Malsberger of Atlanta, general manager of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, reported that these trees comprised seedlings planted during the seasons of 1947-48 through 1961-62.

The number of seedlings planted during the latest season, as revealed in an 11-state survey just completed by SPCA, totaled 280,811,200.

The figure for the 1961-62 season was slightly higher than the previous nine years.

While the planting of trees each year by the pulp and paper industry and by individual landowners is an important part of the South's continuing reforestation program, Mr. Malsberger stressed that by far the greatest number of new trees comes from natural re-seeding.

As a result of this natural re-growth, aided by wise forest management and supplemented by the annual plantings of trees by man, woodlands today are growing faster than they are being used, he added.

Commenting further on the seedlings planted by the industry in the 1961-62 season, the SPCA general manager observed that although the regional average was above the previous nine-year average, there was considerable variation among individual states.

I would like to thank Mr. Joe Colson Civil Defense Director and the people of these communities not only for their work but the personal kindness extended to myself and my family.

San Francisco—Super Shell with Platformate has just delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent. Platformate is Super Shell's mileage ingredient. Shell engineers test Super Shell for mileage in many different types of cars, in many different places. Here's how the test above was run. Exactly 250 cc (about half a pint) of a fuel blended without Platformate was fed into the test car's engine. The car was started, accelerated to 30 miles per hour, then held there until fuel ran out and the car rolled to a stop. Distance: 6186 feet (indicated by dotted line in background). Next, test was repeated, using Super Shell—the same fuel as before but with Platformate added. Precise same volume of fuel. Same car. Same speed. Same driver. Same conditions. Distance: 6454 feet. That's 4.33 percent farther than the car traveled with non-Platformate gasoline.

MILEAGE TEST

New documented tests prove that one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients packs extra mileage into every gallon

THE picture above was snapped a few moments after Super Shell with an extra mileage ingredient called Platformate delivered a mileage bonus of 4.33 percent.

That's a typical result from a series of mileage tests Shell engineers recently ran on the outskirts of San Francisco.

The tests compared two gasolines. One was a gasoline Shell scientists purposely blended without Platformate. The other was Super Shell—the same gasoline as before but with Platformate added.

Shell engineers used a 1962 convertible for the tests. You may be driving a similar car right now.

In test after test, Super Shell with Platformate consistently took the car about 4 percent farther than the gasoline blended without Platformate.

NOTE: For more details on these tests, see caption under picture. And for technical data, write to the Shell Oil Company, 50 West 50 Street, New York 20, N. Y.

Platformate gets its name from the platinum re-forming process used to make it.

Pressures up to 600 pounds per square inch and temperatures up to 1000 degrees literally tear petroleum apart. A precious platinum catalyst then helps re-form the petroleum into super-energy components.

RESULT: Platformate can release more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Your engine can convert extra energy into extra mileage.

Super Shell has 9 ingredients for top performance

Extra mileage is just one part of the top performance story. Super Shell's other ingredients complete the picture. Here's what they are and what they do.

TCP* for power, mileage, longer plug life.

Pentane mix—for fast "warm-up."

Butane—for quick starts.

Anti-knock mix—to resist all kinds of knock.

Alkylate—to help control "high-speed knock."

"Cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.

Anti-icer—added in cold weather to help check carburetor icing stalls.

Gum preventive—to help keep carburetors clean inside.

Super Shell—the gasoline with 9 ingredients for top performance

"MR. HOBBS TAKES A VACATION" AT STAR THEATRE SUNDAY

Moviemakers who remember the Jimmy Stewart of "Harvey" and "Mr. Smith Goes To Washington" are in for a full-course treat when the latest Stewart laugh-provoker, 20th Century-Fox's CinemaScope-DeLuxe Color comedy "Mr. Hobbs Takes A Vacation" opens Sunday at the STAR THEATRE. Playing Roger Hobbs, a badgered, bewildered ... yet somehow noble example of American Fatherhood, Stewart takes full advantage of the humor inherent in his real-life role of family man and father of four.

Writing an imaginary letter to his wife (played by Maureen O'Hara) in reference to the extensive Hobbs clan (Lauri Peters, Fabian, John Saxon, Natalie Trundy and Josh Peine), Mr. Hobbs clues the hilarity to come: "My darling Peggy: There is no man alive who believes more devoutly than I that the family is the rock of civilization, but I will tell you frankly ... I would rather be shot from a cannon than be trapped in the same house with my family for a month's vacation!"

When "Mr. Hobbs Takes A Vacation"—and the whole family does indeed come along—the situation spawns a series of Dad-baiting incidents with which only the immense comedy talent of a Jimmy Stewart could begin to cope. Everything from a belligerent water pump to an infuriated four-year-old to the whole fashionable concept of family "togetherness" rises up to challenge the indomitable Mr. Hobbs ... and everything, it must be said in honesty, very nearly gets the best of him.

Senate Armed Services Committee and Chairman of Military Preparedness Investigating Subcommittee, said the announcement "culminates considerable ground-work during the past few months necessary to pin down this new unit."

A long-time champion of National Guard and Reserve programs, Stennis said, "Establishment of this new unit is another positive example of the major role of the National Guard in our Military preparedness. It points up the important missions assigned to the Guard in maintaining a strong military reserve program to meet any national emergency."

Stennis made the announcement after conferring with top officials of the National Guard Bureau in Washington.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Mrs. Norton Haas, and Mabel Green, Representative Clarence Ladner and Cyril J. Glover attended the one-day hurricane planning conference Saturday by the Mississippi Civil Defense Council at the Buena Vista hotel, Biloxi.

Gordon Dunn, chief district meteorologist, national hurricane center, was the main speaker at the luncheon session.

NO EARLY HALT OF TRAINS EXPECTED

WASHINGTON—Rail unions are expected to announce that workers operating the nation's trains will walk out a week from Thursday if the carriers go ahead with plans to cut out thousands of jobs.

There is no expectation, however, that the move would mean an immediate stoppage. It is assumed President Kennedy would move in under the emergency provisions of the Railway Labor Act to bar both sides from taking any action for two months.

The railroads, despairing after a three-year report to reach job curtailment agreement with five balking unions, have announced they will put the changes into effect anyway Aug. 16.

As the union leaders gathered here to agree on a stand, one of them, H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, told a reporter:

"I don't think the men will work under those circumstances."

Gilbert said he expected a formal statement later today after talks with chiefs of the Engineers, Conductors, trainmen and switchmen's unions.

There still remained a chance, however, that the 200,000 union members would rely first on an appeal from the decision of a federal judge in Chicago who ruled out court intervention in the dispute.

In Chicago the unions set up a joint news conference for 1 p. m., CDT, to follow a morning court session set by Judge Joseph Sam Perry to issue his formal ruling.

If the strike action were ordered and Kennedy took the emergency action available to him, a board named by the President would investigate the issues and report recommendations for a settlement. That would put off a strike threat until mid-October at least.

Creamy-Rich Ice Cream ... Made At Home

With the coming of days that are warm, thoughts turn to cool, refreshing desserts. First on the list of favorites is home-made ice cream. Grandmothers used to prepare it by hand, but the modern homemaker can rely on Carnation Company's home economists who have developed an ice cream recipe that is creamy and rich ... but so easy to prepare. The secret is evaporated milk ... whipped and blended with marshmallow whip and fruit. Evaporated milk insures a smooth texture every time ... no need to worry about richness. It's extra nutritious, too ... with twice the amounts of Vitamin D, protein and minerals of whole milk.

HOMEMADE PEACHES BY STARWHEEZY ICE CREAM
(Makes about 2 1/2 quarts)
1 cup sliced fresh peaches
1 cup sliced fresh California strawberries
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups (7 1/2 to 8 ounce jar) marshmallow whip
1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk
1/4 cup lemon juice
Whole fresh California strawberries

Wash peaches and 1 cup sliced strawberries in bowl. Add sugar and marshmallow whip. Allow to stand for 25 minutes. Stir occasionally until well blended. Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft. Ice crystals form around edges of tray (about 25 to 30 minutes). Whip evaporated milk until stiff (about 2 minutes).

Add lemon juice. Whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold peach mixture into whipped evaporated milk. Spoon into refrigerator trays. Freeze until firm (about 3 hours).
Serve garnished with whole strawberries.

Master Gland Key to Health

Why can some persons quickly and easily throw off every infection while others constantly wage a losing battle against one germ after another?

Why do most individuals react with overwhelming success to a vaccine, while it has very little effect on other persons?

Is there perhaps a master gland that triggers the immune reactions?

"Yes, it's the thymus gland," says Dr. Robert A. Good, research professor of pediatrics at the University of Minnesota, and March of Dimes grantee.

Dr. Good recently won the annual award medal of the American Society for Experimental Pathology, much of his work being done with National Foundation financial support.

Dr. Good presented evidence, greatly strengthening this theory about the thymus gland in a paper he delivered before the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology at Atlantic City.

He detailed the results of experiments carried out in collaboration with other scientists which, he said, provide evidence that the thymus is a key organ in the body's endless struggle to protect itself against harmful substances. The thymus is located behind the breastbone in humans.

Much of Dr. Good's study was based on observation of 125 patients with agammaglobulinemia, a rare disease occurring most often in children whose bodies fail to produce gamma globulin, the substance in the blood which forms antibodies to fight off invasion by germs and other foreign substances.

Further study showed the association of other diseases with agammaglobulinemia, including a high incidence of rheumatoid arthritis and related diseases; leukemia and Hodgkin's disease (cancer of the lymph glands), and other disabilities suspected to result from malfunction of the immune system.

This led Dr. Good and his associates to the thymus as the important organ of immunity. The theory was tested by removing the thymus of rabbits less than five days old.

In his Minneapolis laboratory, Dr. Robert A. Good, March of Dimes research grantee in arthritis at University of Minnesota School of Medicine, checks an X-ray film.

They proved later to be unable to form antibodies in any way and thus could not throw off disease.

Secondly, Dr. Good found that these same animals would accept skin grafts from other rabbits. Normally, skin can be transplanted only between identical twins. By this means the doctor was able to show how the natural barriers to disease are broken down merely by removal of the thymus in the newborn. This phenomenon, the Minnesota pediatrician believes, has a human parallel, namely agammaglobulinemia, where antibodies are usually absent. For example, one of the children with this disease now under study by Dr. Good's group has been carrying an intact skin graft for more than seven years—even though the skin had been taken from a unrelated donor.

Studies of this sort, Dr. Good pointed out, have been possible only during the last decade since modern treatment has enabled the survival of children with immunologic deficiency diseases, and new laboratory techniques made possible the accurate analysis of blood and tissue components.

"We are gradually getting much closer to understanding the whole process of immunity, and its relation to disease," Dr. Good said. "We now can see a real possibility of learning how to manipulate and overcome the natural barriers to transplantation of human organs, such as the kidney, as well as other tissues."

"It's tempting to speculate that someday we may have thymus gland banks just as we now have blood banks and bone banks, in order to supply thymus tissues for persons whose immune response is below par. This may also provide us with a means of altering an individual's immunologic pattern by implanting foreign thymus cells when the need arises."

The March of Dimes-supported scientist pointed out that further studies of animals artificially deprived of the ability to produce antibodies are urgently needed to provide insight into rheumatoid arthritis and other diseases which occur in patients with agammaglobulinemia.

Fundamental research aimed at unraveling these disease mysteries is already under way with March of Dimes support at medical centers throughout the country, including Dr. Good's laboratory.

AUGUST 24 DEADLINE FOR STUDENT ADMISSIONS

New students enrolling at Mississippi State University this fall for the first time must have their applications on file with the registrar not later than August 24.

L. D. Furgerson, registrar, advises former students to apply for readmission by September 1 or earlier, to avoid a delay in their registration for the Fall Semester, September 13, 14, and 15. Classes will begin September 17.

The American College Test, required for all beginning freshmen, will be given on the campus at 1 p. m. August 1, August 8, August 15, and September 12.

The dormitories will open on September 6, and orientation of new students is scheduled September 10, 11, and 12. The new students will register with the others September 13-15.

HIGHER NITROGEN RATES IMPROVE RYEGRASS GRAZING

STATE COLLEGE, MISS. - Recent experiments with fertilizer at the North Mississippi Branch Experiment Station, Holly Springs, have shown that rye grass can economically use as much as 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre for production of winter grazing.

B. L. Arnold, agronomist at the Station, says more efficient use of nitrogen and more uniform distribution of forage throughout the grazing season will be made if the nitrogen is applied in split applications - one at seeding and one or more top dressings.

In the experiments, high rates of nitrogen also produced grass high in protein. The protein content of the grass increased as the rate of nitrogen increased, and decreased as the season progressed, declining sharply in late May when the grass was maturing and making seed.

These tests further showed that application of more than 100 pounds of nitrogen at seeding reduced the stand and the early production of damaging the seedlings.

Phosphate is considered important, particularly for early grazing. Small increases in yield have been made by potash.

Part of the nitrogen and all the phosphate and potash should be applied at seeding in late August or early September in North Mississippi. The remainder of the nitrogen can be applied in one or more top-dressings, depending on the weather.

It's Spoon Lickin' Good!

Small boys may not understand about the laws of physics, but they know a good thing when they taste it.

Few things taste better to children than peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. Jam is as good, maybe a trifle better, as jelly with peanut butter. It is also cheaper and more easily made and easier to spread than jelly.

All berries, slipskin grapes, apricots, peaches and plums can be turned into delicious jam. Reliable recipes come with the better known brands of fruit pectins. The cooking is quick and the yield larger when pectin is used. However, if you plums are tart and you don't want to use pectin, here is a good way to make the jam. Better make several batches if you want the children to leave any for the breakfast toast.

Plum Jam
Use any tart variety of plums
8 cups chopped plums 1/2 teaspoon salt
6 cups sugar 2 cups water

Wash, drain, pit, chop and measure plums. Add sugar, salt and water. Boil rapidly until mixture thickens. This will be about 9" F. above the boiling point of water in your locality. For boiling hot jam into pint or half-pint fruit jars. Put on lid on jar, screw band tight.

NOTE: Jam may stick and scorch if not stirred constantly while cooking.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Well placed doors and windows can add to the enjoyment and safety of your home.

If you are planning to build a new house or remodel an old one, be sure to place the front or side door convenient to the driveway. The rear doors should be convenient to garage, farm buildings and service areas.

Be sure the doors inside the house are arranged so that the swing of two doors does not overlap. For safety's sake, have hall doors open inside the rooms instead of in the hall.

Windows should be placed so you can easily get to them to open and close them. Consider size and height of window as a possible exit in case of fire. Kitchen windows and doors that give a view of the driveway and outdoor play area can be a big help if your family has play-age children.

Be sure to locate doors and windows so you can arrange furniture satisfactorily.

Consider carefully the relation of rooms to each other as you locate interior doors. This is especially important when you are placing doors for bathrooms and workrooms.

Cotton is still king with U. S. consumers. We used 22 pounds of cotton per person last year, 11 pounds of synthetic fibers and 3 pounds of wool.

did the paddling.

Mr. and Mrs. Weddell and sons Robert and Raymond, spent some time as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wollforth at Clermont Harbor. The boys enjoyed some good fishing with Mr. Wollforth.

There has been a lot of water pollution of late. According to an article in the Times-Picayune things are being done about pollution in the Buras-Empire area.

The report was as follows:

Four fertilizer and seafood plants in the Buras-Empire area and in Terrebonne parish contributing to stream pollution and a fish-kill have been ordered to take corrective measures or face prosecution, a division chief of the wildlife and fisheries commission said Friday.

James M. McConnell, chief of the oyster, water bottoms and seafood division, said the order went out to the Quinn Menhaden plants in Empire and Dulac.

Also ordered to cease dumping effluents were the Empire Menhaden Company of Empire and the Fish Meal and Oil Company of Dulac. McConnell said Empire Menhaden already has repaired a pipe break which contributed in part to the pollution.

Gerry Gordon was over one night last week and wanted to do some soft crabbing for old times sake, (as he put it) but the tides were too low. Come again Gerry.

Capt. and Mrs. Howard Duff and five children arrived at the Bay Saturday and spent a couple of days with Mrs. Duff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Elliott. They have been in Germany for the past 3½ years. Howard loves fishing, etc. but had to put it off due to leaving for his new assignment.

Something needed in Hancock County for a long time is now a reality. Roy Baxter at his fishing camp at Logtown on Pearl River has a number of aluminum boats and out board motors that can be rented by fishermen by the day, etc. The boats are fast and ideal for going to the favored fishing spots.

C. C. McDonald, Jr. who has laid off from fishing for some time enjoying catching some green trout and perch last week with his son. Better get back in stride, C. C.

Speckle trout are water counter parts of our fresh water trout. They're fast, put up a credible scrap and furnish plenty of sport for lots of fishermen.

They are an inshore fish and can be found in large schools around weed beds, old wrecks, pillings, shells, etc. Fishing spots, darning plugs, and popping bugs account for a large take.

Live shrimp and live minnows are also deadly as baits. Speckles are also caught by trolling up our rivers hereabout in the winter time. Speckles are also known as WEAKEFISH.

Sorry to hear of the death last week of Forrest M. Stevens, son-in-law of William Stahle, Forrest was a real sportsman and loved his golf.

Sympathy to the family.

Another death of interest last week was that of Sterling Gens Clawson, a Mississippi fish and game commission biologist who was killed by lightning. Clawson was a young, likable fellow and was a natural sportsman.

"The Divot" newsletter from the Pass Christian Golf Club says, "Don't be too serious about life because there is no chance of getting out of it alive—so why not play golf and have fun?" Besides a beautiful golf course on the second Saturday of each month there is a dinner where you can entertain your guests. MISSISSIPPI HOSPITALS OPERATE AT LOW PATIENT COST

Hospitals in Mississippi operate at a lower per patient day cost than any Southeastern State, according to Mississippi Hospital Association's President, E. I. King. King, who is Administrator of the North Mississippi Community Hospital, Tupelo, listed North and South Carolina and North Dakota as the only states with a lower patient day cost.

In Mississippi's nonfederal short-term general hospitals (which admit 90 per cent of all patients), the cost was $27.34 per patient day in 1961. Even though this is an increase of $2.42 over the cost for 1960, it is $7.64 lower than the national average for 1961. In the institutions was $2.63 (an increase long-term nonfederal hospitals, the average cost in the psychiatric in- of $2.63; tuberculosis, $10.30 (an increase of $1.63); long-term general, 39.07 (an increase of $3.8). Federal Hospitals in Mississippi averaged $23.08 (an increase of $3.97).

In 1961, 249,568 patients were admitted to short-term general hospitals, with 25,014 admitted to hospitals in all other categories. The average length of stay in short-term general hospitals was 5.9 days compared with a national average of 7.6 days. Hospitals reported 32,543 births during 1961. Even though this patient load varies from day to day, using the average figure, 11,626 patients were hospitalized each day in Mississippi hospitals.

King stated that these figures were abstracted from a survey report just released from the American Hospital Association in which 107 Mississippi hospitals participated.

In explaining the increase in patient day cost, rising labor costs was listed as the largest single factor. Payrolls for Mississippi hospitals in 1961 was $38 million, an increase of 14 per cent over 1960. "More and better trained personnel are needed to provide today's highly specialized care," King said, adding "Other factors influencing the rise are increasing research, education and training of personnel, and rising equipment costs."

Mississippi hospitals with 207 employees per 100 patients, are still well below the national average of 235 for voluntary short-term hospitals.

To emphasize the point that hospitals are big business in Mississippi, King stated that the total assets almost reach the 128 million dollar mark.

APPROVE $127,000 FOR USE BY LYMAN FISH HATCHERY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator John Stennis announced approval by a Senate-House conference of his amendment for $127,000 for the Lyman Fish Hatchery in Harrison County.

Stennis, a ranking member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, had sponsored the amendment for $192,000 for the hatchery when the bill was in Committee. He was one of the conferees when the appropriations bill for the Department of Interior Fish and Wildlife Service went to conference this week.

Stennis said the money would be used in Fiscal Year 1963 for construction of additional ponds to increase fish production, for digging artesian wells for water supply, and for installation of flood control levees and construction of storage buildings and personnel housing, and for roads, fences and landscaping.

Coalition Is Seen As Milestone
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today said the formation of a coalition government in Europe is very encouraging.

Kennedy replied to a message from Konrad Adenauer, German Chancellor, in which the German leader said the agreement on a coalition government could serve as a guide to the solution of other problems between East and West.

"The formation of the government of national unity under Prince Souvanna Phouma marks a milestone in the sustained efforts which have been put forward toward this end, especially since our meeting in Vienna," Kennedy told Adenauer.

"It is equally important that we should now press forward with our associates in the Geneva conference to complete these arrangements and to work closely together in their execution."

Ready For Summer...
Chester, a 3½-year-old Pekingese-Collie pet of the Alton Cheney family in Dallas, Tex., just can't be bothered about the blistering summer temperatures since his master air conditioned his house. (NEA Telegram)

Little Change In Weather
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The ever-changing weather means having little effect on Alton Cheney of Dallas, Texas, has the right idea. He knows how blistering summer weather can take the starch out of anyone — including his pet dog, Chester. So he did a wise thing. He installed air conditioning in his dog house.

You'll find air conditioning a wise thing for your family, too. Electric cooling perks up wilted appetites, aids in restful sleep and generally adds more zip to summertime living.

The price you pay to run your electric air conditioner is the most refreshing part of all. It costs as little as one penny an hour for a room-size unit.

So, get out of the dog house and make this summer more pleasant for the entire family. Install electric air conditioning in your home. You don't even need a dog.

God's Greatest Gift

I saw a miracle today. I visited a family with a tiny baby, and as I looked at him and held his chubby hand in mine, I felt the thrill that comes to me each time I gaze upon a new life.

In my work as a minister, I call upon many families. I see many babies. Yet that thrill is always there. For of all God's great gifts, this is the greatest. Nowhere, I think, does His power stand more truly revealed to us than when we see a small being, created in His image.

As I held this baby today, I knew a special gladness because his parents are members of my church and stand ready to bring up their son in the full, rich light of religious training. Would that all blessed babies were so fortunate! It is God who gives us our children—but it is we who must teach them the meaning of Fatherhood, His truth, and His eternal understanding.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in making for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a nucleus of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, society degenerates into chaos. There are few small communities which do not owe their very existence to the Church. They are (1) For the new life. (2) For the children's sake. (3) For the sake of the community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs the moral and spiritual support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
